

How Solar Technology Works

---

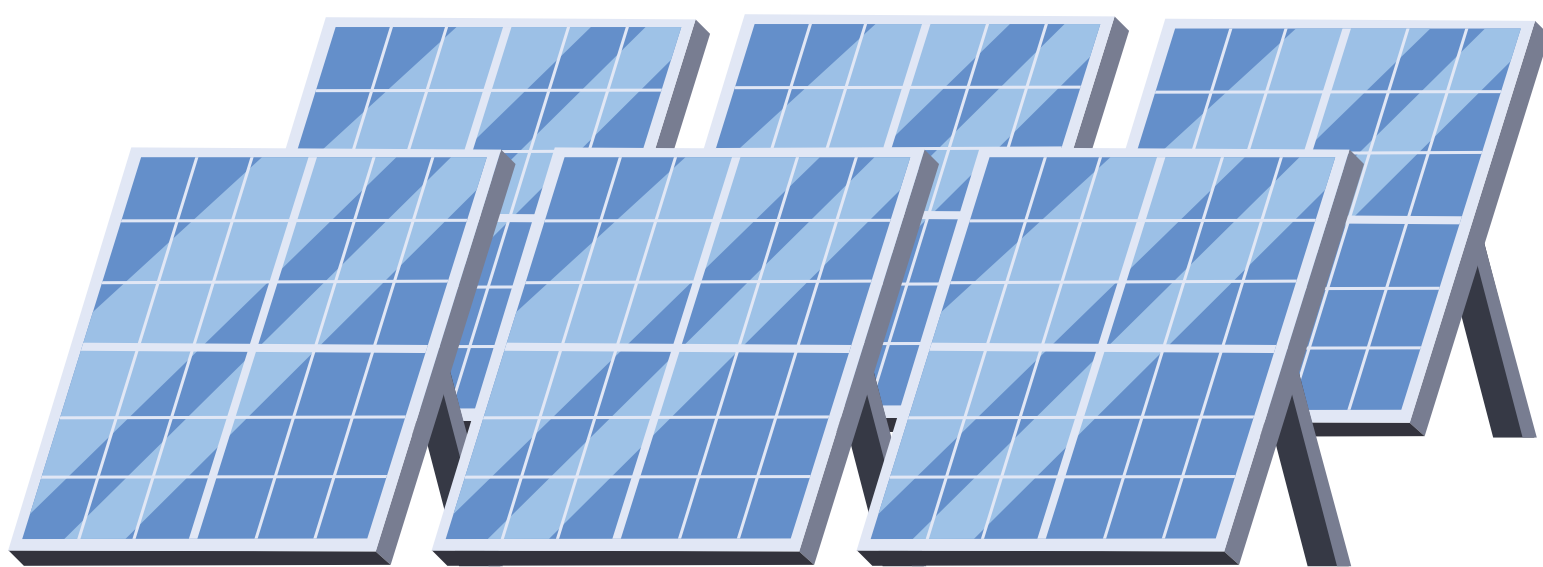

Energy from the sun is similar to a nuclear reactor emitting vast amounts of energy in the form of sunlight

.....

Every hour, enough solar energy reaches Earth to power the entire planet for an entire year

.....

When sunlight reaches the solar panels, it loosens electrons that create an electric current

.....

The electricity generated from solar panels is converted, making the electricity usable to power homes and businesses

